

SOLAR CONTRACTOR LIST

The companies below have worked with Butler Rural Electric Cooperative members to install distributed generation systems. The cooperative has not received complaints from members about these companies. The list does not make claims about the cost or quality of work of these companies and is non-inclusive. Butler Rural Electric Cooperative does not make recommendations for distributed generation system installers.

In preparation of this list, we strive to offer members accurate, up-to-date, and clearly expressed information regarding solar contractors. However, inadvertent errors can occur. The information or status of a vendor may change without notification to the cooperative. Changes are made to this list periodically without notice. Prior to making any commitments for equipment or installation, contact Butler Rural Electric Cooperative first to make sure you understand our distributed generation rules, rates, and procedures.
