USING SPACE HEATERS COSTS MORE THAN YOU THINK

Use our space heater calculator to find out how much they add to your bill!

As temperatures drop, you may begin using space heaters. Space heaters can consume a lot of energy when used for long periods of time, even those that claim to be energy efficient. All space heaters are energy hogs. They use roughly 1,500 watts of energy per hour, which adds up to $72.90 per month when used 12 hours a day.

Be especially cautious using space heaters 24/7 in areas with larger heating loads, like an enclosed back porch. You will spend less adjusting your thermostat or by using space heaters to heat small spaces for short periods of time.

Find out how much space heaters add to your electric bill by using the space heater calculator at butlerrural.coop > Energy Solutions > Save Energy & Money > Home Energy Calculators.
